Butler and DePauw Football Teams to Meet To-Day.

The football game this afternoon between Butler University and DePauw University at the East Ohio-street ball park promises to be of more interest to the general public than any game yet played here this season. The two teams are perhaps more evenly matched than any others in the State, for they have each beaten the other by small scores at different times. Two years ago their game was called a draw because the crowd surged out on the field and retarded the game, although it was then too dark to see the ball. The score was in Butler's favor, but the association decided that the game last year should decide both scores and DePauw won. Therefore the Butler boys will make an extra effort to win the game to-day. Both teams have played Indiana University and Rose Poly-technic Institute, and Butler has beaten each by a larger score than that of DePauw. DePauw was defeated by the Light Artillery team 46 to 5, while that team's score with Butler was only 10 to 0. J. M. Flint, of Princeton, has been coaching the Butler boys the entire season and their team work is about the finest in the State. DePauw has had Corbett, of Harvard fame, part of the season and have greatly improved since last seen in this city. It will be an ex-

Anna Control of the C	TSIE FOR PROSECUT

His Plurality 3,454, Mr. Henry's 3,432 and Mr. Schmidt's 3,118-The Vote by Wards.

The official compilation of the Marion county vote was completed about 6 o'clock yesterday evening and the sheets were signed by all the inspectors at night. The full totals, pluralities and majorities, as given below, are significant of several facts. Wiltsie led the county ticket by 22 votes over Henry, but that is not looked upon as meaning that either Wiltsie or Henry were stronger individually than some others on the ticket. There are reasons other than personal in both cases. Wiltsie's opponent is looked upon as being one of the weakest if not the weakest man on the Democratic ticket. In the case of Henry, it was a fight of protection against free trade and the personalities of the two candidates were hardly considered by the voter when the great principle of protection to the American workingman loomed up before his eyes. Harry Smith received the smallest plurality of any one on the ticket. His friends attribute much of this to the opposition of Catholics. The report had been spread by his enemies among the Catholics that he is a member of the A. P. A., and on that account he was opposed by a number of them. Mr. Smith is not a member of the A. P. A., and now that the election is over and he has been successful, evidence proving that fact will soon be forthcoming. His friends say that this impression gained ground from the fact that there was prominent member of the A. P. A. name Harry Smith. In view of these facts it i not surprising to his friends that Mr. Smith fell behind his ticket.

Fesler was next, coming out with a plurality of 2,104 and a majority of 186. The fact that he had such a short time in which to make the canvass and that one of the strongest men on the other ticket oppose him, probably accounts for his reduced plu

The members of the canvassing board did not take the interest in the canvass tha they did two years ago. Not a single pack age containing the contested votes, if an were returned, was examined. A few mor or less votes would have made no difference in the result. The men lounged around the room, impatiently waiting the end of the calculation of the vote, so they could sign the returns and go home. The question, How can we reduce the majority? was not a factor in the thoughts of the Democratic inspectors. One man was overheard to say: "I would concede a million majority if they would just let us sign the sheets and go

CANVASSING BOARD'S WORK. Confusing Figures Galore-A Tally

Sheet That Was Lost. Dr. George Spees, an inspector at Precinct 4, in Perry township, yesterday started to the canvassing board with the tally sheets lying in the bottom of his buggy. On the way in they dropped out. He had to drive back over the course taken to the city, but the papers were not discovered. During the morning a colored boy, about twelve years of age, entered the office of the Board of Public Safety and handed a miry, crumpled lot of paper to Clerk Herrick, with the remark that perhaps they were worth something. Mr. Herrick took them at once up stairs to the board. They were the duly recorded and the transcription of the tally sheets was completed. The boy was rewarded by the unfortunate inspector. the unfortunate inspector. The tally sheet was turned over to Clerk Bals to be footed up. He began his work early in the morning, and expected to be through by 5 o'clock. There were about 200 columns of about forty figures each to be counted and verified, and only expert accountants could have done the work so thoroughly and perfectly in such time. After the 1892 election three persons were detailed for the work and spent the day at it. In the hurry of transcribing the at it. In the hurry of transcribing the figures units are not placed accurately under the proper column, and this occa-sions delay. The inspectors lost another day in waiting for the footings to be made and the result read to them before they sign the rolls. They were under the impression, vigorously expressed, that they had won their per diem of eight hours each, whether it was law or not.

HEAVIER THAN IN 1892. Total Vote of This Year Compared with Two Years Ago.

In 1892 the total vote in Marion county was 40,838, divided as follows: Republican, 19,550; Democratic, 20,400; Prohibition, 566; Populist, 322. This year the highest vote was for county clerk, the total being 41,138, which represents the total number of separate ballots cast, as all who went into the booths undoubtedly voted for the name at the head of the county ticket. This shows that the vote of 1894 is 200 larger than that of 1892, so that the Democratic disaster cannot be attributed to the non-voting of that party. Compared with the Democratic vote of 1892, the average Demo-cratic vote of 1894 is about 2,500 smaller. while the average Republican vote of 1894 is about 1,300 larger than it was in 1892. The Prohibition vote this year is 75 smaller than it was in 1892, while the Populist is 1,100 greater. Mr. Henry has the largest Republican and Mr. Bynum the smallest Democratic vote, the Henry plurality being 3.452 in Marion county.

Legislators Securing Seats. The scramble for choice seats in the two

Miss Ahern, the State Librarian, who has charge of the arrangement of seats, has re-arranged the plans so that the Republicans will have the choice side, wrthest from the galleries and lobbies. The Marion county members will have a choice place. county members will have a choice place. The Democrats in the lower house will have the few seats to the right of the Speaker, and Republicans will have to find seats behind them. J. W. Hamrick, of Hendricks; A. J. Stakebake, of Randolph; Jerome Dinwiddie, of Lake; F. D. Merritt, of Lagrange, and the entire Marion county delegation have secured seats. D. W. Heagy, of Bartholomew; R. W. Harrison, of Shelby, and M. W. Simons, of Marshall, Democratic members, have also reserved seats.

eserved seats. May Have Only Thirty Senators. The Republicans may have only thirty members of the Senate instead of thirty-two as seemed Thursday night. The latest returns indicate the success of Thomas Ellison, Democrat in Allen county. It was believed that James B. White, jr., Republican, would pull through. There is also some doubt as to the result in the joint district of Huntington and Wells, indications pointing somewhat to the election of J. W. Rinear, although Adam Fourt was confident the official vote would carry him through the official vote would carry him through.
Messrs. Kelly and McGrath, Democrats, may possibly be elected to the House, the first from Adams, Jay and Blackford and the other from Allen county.

Columbia League to Jollify. The Columbia Lincoln League held meeting last night for the purpose of making arrangements for a jollification. A committee was appointed to invite the county officers-elect and the county campaign com-mittee to be at Columbia Hall next Friday night, when, as Mr. Kelleher, president of the League expressed, they will have "a rousin" old Republican love feast."

Another Candidate for Speaker. Hon. Francis D. Merritt, a re-elected member of the Legislature from Lagrange county, is another candidate for the post of Speaker of the lower branch of the Legislature. He comes from a county that has been strongly Republican for thirty years, and yet has not had places of prominence, Mr. Merritt says, in the State. The county showed a Republican gain of 500 Tuesday.

For Senate Doorkeepership. W. A. Dubois, an ex-soldier, of Hamilton county, who served for four years and three months in the Eighth Indiana Regiment, and who has made a previous fight for the position, is an active candidate for Doorkeeper of the Senate. He was in the city yesterday urging his claims.

CHARITY ORGANIZATION HEARS RE-PORTS AND RE-ELECTS OFFICERS.

Figures of Interest to the Contributors to the Charity Fund-Number of Persons Aided.

The annual meeting of the Charity Organization Society was held yesterday afternoon in the Charity Organization rooms at Plymouth Church. Rev. M. L. Haines, president, was in the chair. The first order of business was to hear the annual report of the secretary, Mr. C. S. Grout. He gave the financial statement as follows: Cash on hand Nov. 1, 1893, $26.66; subscriptions to the society, $5,593.13; special, $44.42; Friendly Inn rent from cottages, $136.50; loans repaid, $32.31; total, $5,806.36. Given out through the main office, pairs of new shoes,

The reports, having been audited, were accepted by the The Friendly Inn accommodated less last year than the year before, having been closed four months on account of the smallpox scare. Improvements were made at the Friendly Inn to the amount of more than $400, as it was in bad condition. The tramp portion and that which is used as the living room of Mr. and Mrs. Moore, who have charge of the inn, have been separated. This fact, on the motion of Mr. Hanna, will be incorporated in the report. Kindly words were spoken for Mr. and Mrs. Moore. The latter was employed during the time the inn was closed in visiting the poor and looking out for children who did not attend school. Such as she found were supplied with proper clothes and encouraged to go to school. This Mr. Haines thought to be one of the best branches of the work, and he suggested the value in this direction of the cowork of the charities. Having Mrs. Moore work as a visitor and keeper of the inn obviates the necessity of having an extra visitor. The annual election was decided by the secretary casting the ballot for the same officers. The names of Rabbi Messing and of Rev. E. B. Rawls were added to the list of vice presidents. The officers are: President, Rev. M. L. Haines; first vice president, Mgr. August Bessonies; vice presidents, Eli Lilly, S. N. Treasurer-V. T. Malott.

Secretary-Charles W. Moore A committee consisting of Rev. M. L. Haines, Mrs. Goodhart and Mr. Charles Martindale was appointed to prepare the programme for the fifty-eighth annual meeting of the Benevolent Society and the sixteenth of the Charity Organization, which will be held the first Sunday evening after Thanksgiving. A feature of this programme will be a description of the method of the associated charities and relief committee last winter. They will give the publie an opportunity to know just how the plan, which was systematized by the Commercial Club committee, and which placed Indianapolis at the head of the list in such work, is carried out.

Expert Hayes in Town. Frank M. Hayes, expert accountant, who was the government's chief reliance in the Coffin trial, was in the city yesterday en route East. He spent a short time in con-ference with the federal attorneys looking over evidence in the Scuyler Haughey case, but he said he did not know when that case would be called.

Notaries' Troubles. Many of the notaries public over the State who resigned their offices to become candidates for legislative honors were defeated, and have filed applications for reinstatement. Governor Matthews yester-day received a number of applications of this character.

The chief discussion of yesterday was provoked by the report of Superintendent J. W. Carr, of Anderson, on the "Hindrances to High Efficiency of Town and City Schools." Superintendent Carr was the chairman of a committee appointed last year to investigate the condition of the Indiana schools and to collect educational statistics. In order that the committee might receive the benefit of a diversity of expressions on the school question Superintendent Carr addressed letters to the superintendents and patrons of thirty-eight Indiana schools. Each of these officials and patrons was asked for an opinion as to what he considered the greatest hindrance to his town or city schools. Superintendent Carr, in his report to the association, showed that inefficient teachers had much to do with retarding the progress of schools, also lack of proper supervision, incompetent school boards and lack of a proper educational sentiment on lack of a proper educational sentiment on the part of patrons. The committee had found, through correspondence with business and professional men, that politics, church and favoritism in other forms prevailed largely in the majority of Indiana cities in the selection of teachers. Those of the superintendents who had reported to the committee complained that people in many localities were indifferent to the welfare of the school, and that the attendance was needlessly irregular on account of social distractions. social distractions. The report was taken up and discussed at length by the superintendents. There appeared to be a desire on the part of the older educators to suppress the report, but others clamored for its publication. Superintendent Vories, of the Department Public Instruction, asked permission to use the statistics in his annual report. The consent of the meeting was finally gained. The question of introducing new books into the State schools was brought up yesterday afternoon but left unsettled. Many of the superintendents were in favor of changing the readers and geographies. They contended that the books now in use were of an inferior quality. There was considerable objection also to the grammars, but no decided stand was taken against the book. The session last night was devoted to the discussion of teachers' license and to the discussion of teachers' license and text-books. It was proposed by some to make radical changes in the granting of licenses to teachers. A plan to invest city and town superintendents with power to grant licenses to their own teachers met with some favor, but the resolution to that effect was not put to a vote. The majority of the superintendents admitted that the text-book question had grown to be a vexatious one, and it was suggested that the text-book question had grown to be a vexatious one, and it was suggested that the school law touching text-books might be modified by the Legislature. There was also a decided expression in favor of free text-books. A number of the superintendents thought that the State should supply the schools with a uniform text for the use of pupils. A resolution providing for a measure of this character was adopted by a vote of 26 to 10, and a legislative committee, consisting of Superintendents D. K. Goss, J. N. Strdy and R. J. Hamilton was named to present it to the General Assembly. The question of compulsory education was inquestion of compulsory education was introduced but met with much disfavor. Two or three of the superintendents expressed themselves as prepared to vote for a meas-ure that would compel school attendance in Indiana, and urged that a bill providing for such a law be prepared and sent to the next Legislature. The suggestion met with so much opposition that it was dropped. The majority of those present said it would not be advisable to advocate a movement of this character at the present time. of this character at the present time.

The following committee was appointed to submit a course of study for city schools: Superintendents R. A. Ogg, W. R. Snyder, W. H. Sims, W. C. Bellman and W. P.

THE CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW. The Pleasing Success Winds Up with

To-Day's Auction. There was another large attendance at the chryanthemum show yesterday. The ice house, or palace, as every one seems to desire to call it, was in almost perfect condition. With the electric lights inside it looked like a crystal house. The special designs for which there were premiums were placed in the inclosure near the house. This, with the orchestra on the stage, took most of the people to that end of the hall. The designs were a table piece, the prize given by the Denison. The piece was a large round, low basket; fine ferns were the border; then there was a row of white carnations, all loosely set in. Next, above, was a row of Madame Testout roses, with more ferns, and nod-ding over the highest part were pure white roses and pink lilies on long stems. Bertermann Bros. took the $10 offered. For the best floral show design, offere by Charles Mayer & Co., Anthony Wie-gand took $25. The design was a large lyre of pink and white chrysanthemums, with a base of pink roses. For twelve blooms of pink chryanthemums, E. G. Hill, of Richmond, took the prize offered by John G. Monninger, of Chicago, which was $10. The sweepstake premium, a silver cup, given by Julius Walk & Son, for taking the greatest number of first awards, was given to Henry Rieman, of this city. In the seedling list there was a flower, which developed so much after being placed in the hall, that the committee decided to give an extra certificate for it. It was the Mrs. Potter Palmer chrysanthemum, grown by Fred. Walz, of Cincinnati. The Florists' Society is well pleased with the success of the show. The blooms have been finer, the exhibit larger, and the attendance greater than ever before. To-day is auction day at the chrysan-themum show, and the admission is only 10 cents. All the flowers and plants will be for sale to the highest bidder. This is usually one of the most interesting days of the exhibit. Most every one goes early to get the choice of flowers, and hundreds will be seen coming from Tomlinson Hall with their arms full of the flowers. The chrysanthemums, by cutting off a bit of the stem each morning and keeping the flowers in fresh water, will remain perfect for days and even weeks. The flowers which have been in the hall all the week are, most of them, almost as perfect as when they were put in when they were put in.

At the invitation of the florists, the nurses of the Training School attended the chrysanthemum show yesterday.

RICHARD S. TURRELL.

Memorial in His Honor Adopted by Marion County Bar Association.

At a meeting of the members of the Indianapolis bar, held yesterday afternoon, the following memorial was adopted: "Richard S. Turrell was born in Harrison, Hamilton county, Ohio, Jan. 28, 1857. He came to Indianapolis in 1879 for the purpose of attending the Indianapolis Law School. He also read law in this city with Ayers & Brown. He graduated from the law school in 1880, and was at once admitted to practice in the courts of this county, and continued in the active practice of law until the time of his death. He was married to Miss Eva Graham, in this city, June 21, 1882, and to them was born one child, Ida, who is now eleven years old. "They both survive him to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate husband and father. To them and the aged parents of the deceased we tender our heartfelt sympathy. "Mr. Turrell practiced his chosen profes-"Mr. Turrell practiced his chosen profession alone until April 1, 1891, when he formed a partnership with Murat W. Hopkins, with whom he practiced until April 1, 1894. On May 7, 1394, he formed a partnership with Newton M. Taylor, which partnership continued to the time of his death. "During the last years of his life, Mr. Turrell was principally engaged in the practice of commercial law, and his clientage included some of the largest wholesale firms in Indianapolis. He had a legal mind. He was a close student and a clear, logical thinker. Where it was possible he settled his cases by peaceable settlement and compromise, and he only advised litigation as a last resort. As a practitioner he was always fair and courteous to his opponents, but vigilant and persistent in the interest of his clients.

and upright in all his dealings. He was a man of genial disposition, good habits and pure character, and was loved and respected by all who knew him. Although he was cut down in the prime of life, yet he had established a character of probity as a citizen and ability as a lawyer of which his friends may well be proud, and which is worthy of emulation by all." Appropriate remarks were made by Judge Harper, who presided over the meeting, by Judges Brown and Bartholomew, and by other members of the bar.

Claim They Have Found a Flaw. There was a crush yesterday at the law office of Blackledge & Thornton, but when the attorneys were asked what was the reason they said that it was a matter of private business and the newspapers had nothing to do with it. From some of those who were striving to get into the office it was learned that these attorneys had sent out a postal card to property owners in Center township, saying that they had dis-covered a flaw that made the donation of $70,000 to the Indianapolis, Decatur & Springfield road invalid, and that they could recover the money for those who paid it. They asked such as responded to the call to sign an agreement for a contingent fee.

First Snow of the Season. The first snow of the season fell last night. It began to fall about 6 o'clock, but at that time was hardly perceptible. At 8 o'clock snow could be seen in the dry corners around the streets. About midnight it was snowing quite hard and the messenger boys were enjoying themselves pelting each other with snowballs.
